Married People Would be Happier

If home trials were never told to neighbors.
If they kissed and made up after every quarrel.
If household expenses were proportioned to receipts.
If they tried to be as agreeable as in courtship days.
If each would try to be a support and comfort to the other.
If each remembered that the other was a human being, not an angel.
If women were as kind to their husbands as they were to their lovers.
If food and provisions were laid in during the high time of summer work.
If both parties remembered that they married for worse as well as for better.

If men were as thoughtful for their wives as they were for their sweethearts.
If there were fewer silk and velvet street costumes and more plain, tidy house dresses.

If there were fewer "please darlings" in public and more common manners in private.

If wives and husbands would take some pleasure as they go along and not degenerate into mere tolling machines. Recreation is necessary to keep the heart in its place, and to get along without it is a big mistake.

If men would remember that a woman can't always be smiling who has to cook the dinner, answer the door bell half a dozen times, and get rid of a neighbor who has dropped in, tend to a sick baby, tie up the cut finger of a two-year-old, tie up the head of a six-year-old on skates, and get an eight-year-old ready for school, to say nothing of sweeping, cleaning, etc. A woman with all this to contend with may claim it as a privilege to look and feel a little tired sometimes, and a word of sympathy is not too much to expect from a man who, during the honeymoon, wouldn't let her carry as much as a sunshade.

How Rain and Hail are Formed.

When the particles of water or ice which constitute a cloud or fog are all of the same size, and the air in which they are sustained is at rest or is moving in the same direction, then these particles can have no motion relative to each other. The weight of the particles will cause them to descend through the air with velocities which depend on their diameters, and, since they are all of the same size, they will move with the same velocity. Under such circumstances, therefore, the particles will not traverse the spaces which separate them, and there can be no aggregation so as to form raindrops or hailstones. If, however, some particles of the cloud or fog attain a larger size than others, those will descend faster than the others and consequently overtake these immediately beneath them; with these they may combine so as to form still larger particles, which will move with greater velocity, and more quickly overtake the particles in front of them, and will increase in rate as they add to their size. Under such circumstances, therefore, the cloud will be converted into rain or hail, according as the particles were ice or water. The size of the drops from such a cloud would depend simply on the quantity of water suspended in the space swept through by the drop in its descent, that is to say, on the density and thickness of the cloud below the point from which it started. This is the actual way in which raindrops are formed.

The Center of Population.

General Walker, Superintendent of the census bureau, has published a curious bulletin showing the position of the center of population since 1700. In 1800 it was eight miles west by south of Cincinnati, having moved west 53 miles the preceding decade. The following is the approximate location of important points from 1700: 1700. Twenty-three miles east of Baltimore. 1800. Eighteen miles west of Baltimore. 1810. Forty miles northwest by west of Washington. 1820. Sixteen miles north of Woodstock. 1830. Nineteen miles west by southwest of Moorfield. 1840. Sixteen miles north of Clarksburg. 1850. Twenty miles southeast of Parkersburg. 1860. Twenty miles south of Chillicothe. 1870. Forty miles east by north of Cincinnati. 1880. Eight miles west by south of Cincinnati.

STATE FINANCES.

There are hardly two papers in this State that agree on the financial condition of Nevada and the contents of its School Fund. The Carson Tribune says for the sake of the people and not the officials, the plain, unvarnished truth should be published. The Carson Appeal says the school fund is all right. Also the Elko Leader. The Index, Times and Silver State incline to the belief that something is wrong. The Gazette has faith in the financial officers of the State past and present, and is surprised that no proper attempt has been made to show exactly how the matter stands. If some official will please give the dates, amounts and reasons, showing the condition of the General School Fund and loans which have been made from it, this discussion will be rendered useless, and the matter will be understood. Figures won't lie if they're put down right.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It has always been admitted that gambling is against good public policy, and cords of laws have been made to prevent it. The way in which these laws usually operate is told in this item from the Cincinnati Commercial:

The "square" places are now closed. It is only the "brass" establishments that are running. So far as 208 Vine street is concerned, no game was played yesterday afternoon or last evening. There was not much more than poker at 177 1/2 or 206 Race street; 145 West Fifth street was running in full blast, and keno cards were bought and pegged at a lively rate all night.

How is this Mr. Sessions? The Austin Review says: "One hundred dollars has been placed in our hands as a wager that no State School Superintendent ever publicly stated that any one or more district public schools was not conducted as it or they should be, and was not prosperous." If you are satisfied that you can produce sworn testimony to establish this fact, you can win one hundred dollars in gold coin."

Once three of the ablest Senators we ever had—Webster, Clay and Calhoun—set out to destroy a President. At the end of a prolonged struggle the "triumvirate" gained considerable experience, but Andrew Jackson won the fight and became the strongest President with the people that had been known. Mr. Conkling is neither a Webster, a Clay or a Calhoun.

County Commissioner Sheridan, of Storey county, has been accused of causing a bill of $38 for his wife to be paid by the county. This will scarcely be credited by anyone who has known Sheridan. His explanation is awaited with interest.

The twenty-eighth annual fair of the California State Agricultural Society will be held in Sacramento, beginning on the 19th and closing on the 24th of September. There is over $30,000 appropriated for premiums.

Congressman Page of California is after H. S. Dodge, Superintendent of the San Francisco mint. A suit of counter-irritant has been applied to Page in some attempt to show that he has protected some of the Star routes.

A silly story in regard to a disgraceful row between Conkling and Arthur has been sent West. There is less probability of this being true than there is that the imaginative reporter in Conkling's equal.

If the revised edition of the scriptures is the correct one we will have to rub out the prayer score and do it all over again.

The Truckee Republican has a column editorial on a tailor. The editor is bound to dress well if he don't say a word about Conkling.

Kallock is not eminently popular in the East.

Grant is on his way home.

BY TELEGRAPH.

The Labor War in Bodie—The Chinese Placed on an Island.

BODIE, May 27.

A second meeting in regard to the employment of Chinese was held on Wednesday evening, and a resolution adopted to organize at once to drive the objectionable people out of the county. About forty armed men left early on Thursday morning for the Chinese camp, about thirty miles distant. In the meantime the railroad people sent a courier to the camp, and had the whole outfit, with their supplies, transferred to an island in the center of Mono Lake by means of the only steamer on this body of water. When the armed force reached the lake they found the birds had flown. As they had no provisions, or very little, and nothing but alkali water to drink, their situation was very disagreeable. A delegation returned to town on Thursday night, and are today trying to raise funds with which to raise provisions for the besiegers, but are meeting with very slim success. The crowd is made up mostly of irresponsible characters, and they have not the sympathy of the people here nor of the Miners' Union, who repudiate any connection with them.

[LATER.]

The Bodie Kearnayites.

BODIE, May 27.

Most of the invading party upon the Chinese camp came straggling back to town this afternoon, very footsore and weary. Supplies of provisions and whiskey were sent out this afternoon to assist the remainder to return to town. The war may be considered over, the hoodlums having no backing from the Miners' Union or the people generally.

The London Disaster.

LONDON, Ont., May 26.

A late dispatch to-night from the scene of the London disaster says: A field battery was called out this afternoon for the purpose of blowing up the boat, under which several more bodies are supposed to be. The people throughout the city feel stunned and stupefied by the blow, and weeping men are seen on every side. Up to the present time 238 bodies have been recovered. It is believed that there are several yet beneath the wreck.

At the Baptist Convention at Indianapolis yesterday Hon. George W. Williams (colored) of Ohio, stated in the course of a discussion on New Mexico, that 30,000 colored people of Louisiana, and many other Southern States, were preparing to emigrate to that country the coming summer.

Commissioner French, when in Walla Walla, W. T., did not credit the report that Villard controls the Northern Pacific Railroad. The capital stock of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company is $32,000,000, of which Villard got $32,000,000.

Troy was visited by a terrific hail storm Wednesday. Vegetation was destroyed, windows broken and stores flooded.

Right Reverend Bishop Clinton of the African Zion Methodist Episcopal Church, New York, is dead.

Women Never Think.

If the crabbled old bachelor who uttered this sentiment could but witness the intense thought, deep study and thorough investigation of women in determining the best means to keep their families well, and would note their sagacity and wisdom in selecting Hop Bitters as the best, and demonstrating it by keeping their families in perpetual health, at a mere nominal expense, he would be forced to acknowledge that such sentiment is baseless and false.

Hoppers.

Steele will cut 3 tons where he cut 30 last year.

Morrill will cut hardly enough for his ranch stock where he cut 290 tons in '79.

The grasshoppers have attacked the flowers and trees at the Arlington Nurseries. The hay crop is now being cut.

There are bushels of grasshoppers all over the valley and anything that can be saved from their ravages is so much made.

Wadsworth.

J. D. Parks will move his family to East Reno on June 1st, and take possession of the Wadsworth House.

The last remaining teams left Wadsworth yesterday for the southern mining camps to return no more forever. T. N. Carey, former host of the Railroad House, will go to Bartlett Springs soon in search of health. Mr. Carey has been afflicted for a long time and the GAZETTE hopes soon to hear of his recovery.

CANTY'S CAREER.

His Relatives Fighting for His Life in Colorado.

A dispatch to the Denver News received yesterday tells the probable end of Canty's career. The man Salisbury came to this country, as the GAZETTE is informed, from Oregon. He was employed on the V. & T. R. R., and no one had anything to say against his conduct. He was quiet and industrious, although a courageous man. In '73 or '74, while coupling a car near Steamboat, the drawbar broke and Salisbury's hand and arm were crushed. The arm was amputated above the wrist, and the sufferer seemed from that time to have lost all sense of the proper relation which he should bear toward his fellow men. From that time on he was what is commonly known as "a fighter." He was involved in numberless brawls, and although he had only one arm, it was his boast that no man with two could "lick" him. He made his living by "taking tricks" from the emigrants, and although probably good at heart, in his outward conduct he was evidently determined to be a scourge to his fellows. He continued this course up to less than three years ago. He was believed to have started the fire which destroyed Chinatown in 1878, and he started for Bodie while the fire was in progress. He returned some months afterward and was ordered to leave town by the Vigilance Committee. He obeyed the order, and has not been in Nevada since. The Denver dispatch says that W. H. Canty, who is sentenced to hang at Colorado Springs, June 17th, for the murder of Deputy Marshal Perkins, at Buena Vista last April, is a nephew of Ben Butler, and his right name is William H. Salisbury, of Salisbury, Mass. He was forced to leave home on account of recklessness, went to California, made a fortune in gambling and the saloon business, and afterwards lost all. He came to Colorado three years ago. He has two sisters, one married and quite wealthy, living in Lawrence, Mass. Since the murder his friends have been doing everything to save him. Massachusetts lawyers are here working in his behalf.

Citizens Meeting.

All citizens and especially those interested in the Fair are asked to meet at the Justice office this evening. The soliciting committee will report in full regarding their efforts to raise money. The Trustees will also be present and the entire situation will be understood by everybody. Go and attend to it, Justice Office, 7:30 P. M. to-night.

The citizens of Carson are subscribing money, still in the hope that Carson is to be the future location of the State Fair. They cannot hope to have a track which will compare with the Reno course, but if our business men take no practical and active interest in the Fair, it will naturally result in a failure of the yearly Fair, which is worth more to Reno than one dozen asylums.

Malignant Mischief.

On Wednesday last, Surveyor-General Hatch discovered that some one had broken off the lock from the back door of his office. On Thursday last the door was left open and some parties entered the office, scattered the contents about, and after mixing the ink poured it over several valuable maps. Several instruments were also carried away. It took three days to rearrange the papers and the damage to the maps was considerable. Most of the instruments have been recovered. The GAZETTE is informed that certain boys did the work.

The First Spike.

Track laying on the Nevada and Oregon railway was commenced today. The first spike was driven at 2:20 o'clock by Engineer McClellan, and the work will proceed rapidly. A large amount of iron, spikes and ties is on hand. The GAZETTE hopes soon to hear of the last spike on the same road.

The first locomotive for the N. & O. will reach Reno about June 10th.

Golden Fleece.

The Supreme Court has affirmed the decision of the District Court in the case of Marshall et al. vs. Trustees of the Golden Fleece. The District Court had decided that Referee Haydon went beyond the pleadings in his decision, and that defendants were entitled to a new trial. This view has been endorsed by the Supreme Court and the case now comes back for a new trial before the District Court.

The "Companion."

The School Girls' Companion, edited by the young ladies at Bishop Whitaker's School for Girls, was issued today from the GAZETTE office. The paper reflects the inner school life at the Seminary. It is neat, worthy, and good-looking, as all companions of school girls should be.

Bicyclists.

The bicyclists, Merrill and Bennett, who are crossing the Continent, have decided to remain over until Monday morning. Their bicycles need repairing, and Sunday not being included as a riding day, they will lose but little time. On account of a number not having had the opportunity of seeing them last evening, and their not being able to do their best on account of being tired and a small hall, they have gone to the expense of renting the Pavilion, and promise the public an entertainment well worthy of their patronage. Among many new features will be double and single fancy riding by Prof. Merrill's brother, who has arrived, and who is also a professional. They will commence riding promptly at three o'clock, and greatly improve on their entertainment last eve. both in length and quality of riding.

S. M. JAMISON, P. M.

Truckee Tidings.

P. S. Hirsch goes to San Jose.

Truckee expects to be a lively camp this summer.

The Assessor is blighting the woody town.

A young man named Charley something, had his hand crushed in Richardson's mill on Wednesday.

Three narrow-gauge flat cars were hauled from Truckee to Lake Tahoe, last Thursday. They came from Clinton, and are to be used by the firm of Hobart & Mariett on their new narrow gauge road.

The Asylum.

At the late meeting of the Asylum Commissioners a full board was present.

The plans and specifications were ordered printed.

Dr. A. Dawson was commissioned Superintendent of the Asylum and he will prepare himself without salary to fill the position upon completion of the Asylum. Any person who desires to bid on the work can obtain plans and specifications from Jerry Schooling in Reno.

The Boss.

You men with big eggs stand from under. At Chase & Thyes' may be seen a bit of hen fruit which is 9 1/2 inches in circumference one way and 7 inches the other. It was laid in a five acre lot and one end stuck through into the next field. Ed. Bates brought it in. If that hen could only have a half interest in what she lays she would soon be in easy circumstances.

I. O. O. F.

The Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows will meet in Eureka on June 7th. Following is the list of delegates from Reno:

Truckee Lodge, No. 14—G. W. Cunningham, J. G. Laws, John Bowman, N. C. Hammersmith, J. C. Smith.

The Grand Lodge will be in session about four days.

Truck for Truckee.

J. L. McFarlin, the well-known blacksmith and carriage maker, is making a hook and ladder truck for the Truckee Lumber Co. fire department. It is constructed of gas pipes and will have a capacity of four ladders, four hooks, axes and buckets. The weight will not exceed 500 pounds. The truck is built according to a plan agreed upon between Mr. Jas. Ware and McFarlin. It will be a valuable addition to the Truckee fire department.

How It is Done.

An exchange notes as a wonderful fact that it takes $12000 a week to run the Chicago Times. The paper in question does not see how such an expense can be met. The Times no doubt has a circulation, and an extent of country something like the GAZETTE which renders the matter easy. Speaking of the Weekly GAZETTE, advertisers can be assured that they are getting more for their money every day. The last number was issued to a larger list than ever before.

How He Did It.

"Good morning, Mr. Straasberger!" "How are you, Goldstein?"

"Say, Straasberger, how can dot be. You sold a customer a vest for 'vone dollar and a kvarter. Dot vest cost you just tre dollars. How can you do it?"

"Vell I tell you, my frent, ven I bought it dere vas a gold vatch und chain on it."

"Asta Gazanta?"

"Don't give it away."

A Charter Vag.

Ah Shame, the first Chinese vagrant on record, was scooped yesterday by Constable Avery. Justice Young, with that moving kindness and tender mercy which is so precious to the way faring man, informed Ah that 30 days was the figure. No sooner was the celestial juggled than he was offered and accepted a job under A. C. McFarlin on the county roads.

From Time.

"Was in the prime of Garrick (Club) time," when I entered there about noon, and met Thackeray in the dining-room.

"Young fellow," he said, "I've got some American friends dining with me to night at the Trafalgar at Greenwich. Come and help me to amuse them."

I had only left Oxford. "What!" I said, "dine at Greenwich in November?" For that was the month.

"Ha, ha!" exclaimed the eminent novelist—as it was the fashion to call him in those days—"come and see."

Of course I would. But on that very afternoon I had an appointment with my respected progenitor and some financial transactions connected with the distinguished college of Oxford, of which I was at once the ornament and the prodigal. I fear a slight crisis was imminent. But distance does lend a disengagement to the view of monetary backslidings. I told Thackeray that my dinner would be dependent on the paternal interview being a short one. He said that he would leave word about time and place with the porter. He did, in these very characteristic words:

Dear P.—at the Trafalgar. Was the old man "frindly?" Lend me $1,000.—Yours ever, W. M. T.

And it was a dinner. Splendid fish and vegetables. No whitebait of course. But we had the house and kitchen to ourselves, and our American cousins were entertained right royally. They were all distinguished men, and yet I am ashamed to say I have forgotten their names. En revanche, I have not forgotten some magnificent hock, with a magnificent price. Very nearly as much. It cost a bottle as our host received for a number of Family Fair.

Belief of the Stuarts.

Illustrated London Times.

The will of Charles Edward Stuart, Count d'Albanie, was proved on the 15th ult by Lord Lovat, as the attorney for the Countess Sobleska de Platt, the daughter and residuary legatee, the personal estate being sworn under a nominal sum. The testator bequeathed to the Marquis of Bute the Highland Claidmor (Andrea Ferrara) worn by his (testator's) grandfather, Prince Charles Edward Stuart, at the battles of Falkirk, Preston-Pans and Culloden, a pair of steel pistols inscribed with silver, and a dirk worn by his said grandfather at the ball given at Holywood on the eve of the battle of Preston-Pans, and which he opened with the Countess of Wemyss; and to Lord Lovat the large two-handled sword made by Cosmo Ferrara, firstly belonging to the Italian General Patricio Colonna, and afterward to the said grandfather, and two pistols formerly belonging to Rob Roy, 1715.

Simon Cameron and Don Quixote.

Philadelphia Press.

Speaking of this book General Cameron once said to me: "Besides being the first literary work I ever had to read, it was illustrated. I was about ten years of age, and if you have ever seen a boy of that age, with a natural appetite for devouring everything in the shape of printed matter, get down to a book with pictures in it, you may imagine with what zest I addressed myself to that fascinating work, snatching moments from labor and devoting all play-time to it until the last page was read, and then wondering what it was all about, and beginning again at the first end reading it all over."

I remember very well that I thought it was a great history, or a great lie. Of course I could not see the satire in one point—that if I had been Don Quixote, Sancho Panza would have died within a week, and if I had been Sancho Panza I would not have served such a fool as Don Quixote."

"Courtship of the Seniors."

There are half-a-dozen blooming, plump and pretty women who hang around the Senate daily. Just what their business is has never been disclosed, except perhaps to some of the gray-haired Senators into whose ears they whisper. They are not lobbyists for there is nothing to lobby for just now. It is a sort of mania these females are afflicted with. They like people to see them talking with Senators. They sit in the galleries and express their admiration for a member.

More than one of the Senators have complained of the importunities of these women, and have forbidden their access to be brought to them. The women are irrepressible, not bad.
